Athabasca Watershed Council

Our Vision:

The AWC strives to keep the Athabasca watershed ecologically healthy, socially responsible, and economically sustainable.

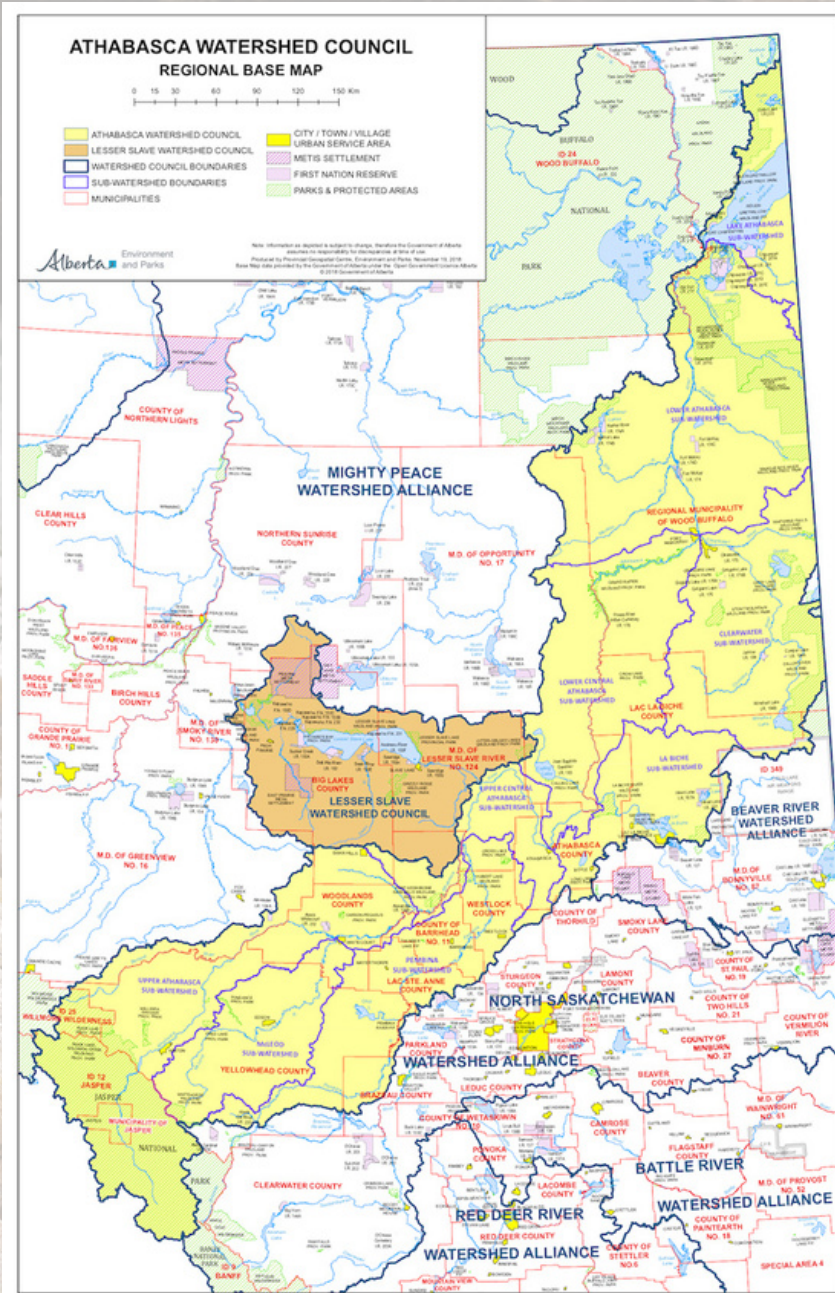

Our Mission

The Athabasca Watershed Council demonstrates leadership and facilitates informed decision-making in the Athabasca watershed by bringing stakeholders and Indigenous peoples together to promote, foster respect, and plan for an ecologically healthy watershed that supports social responsibility and economic sustainability.

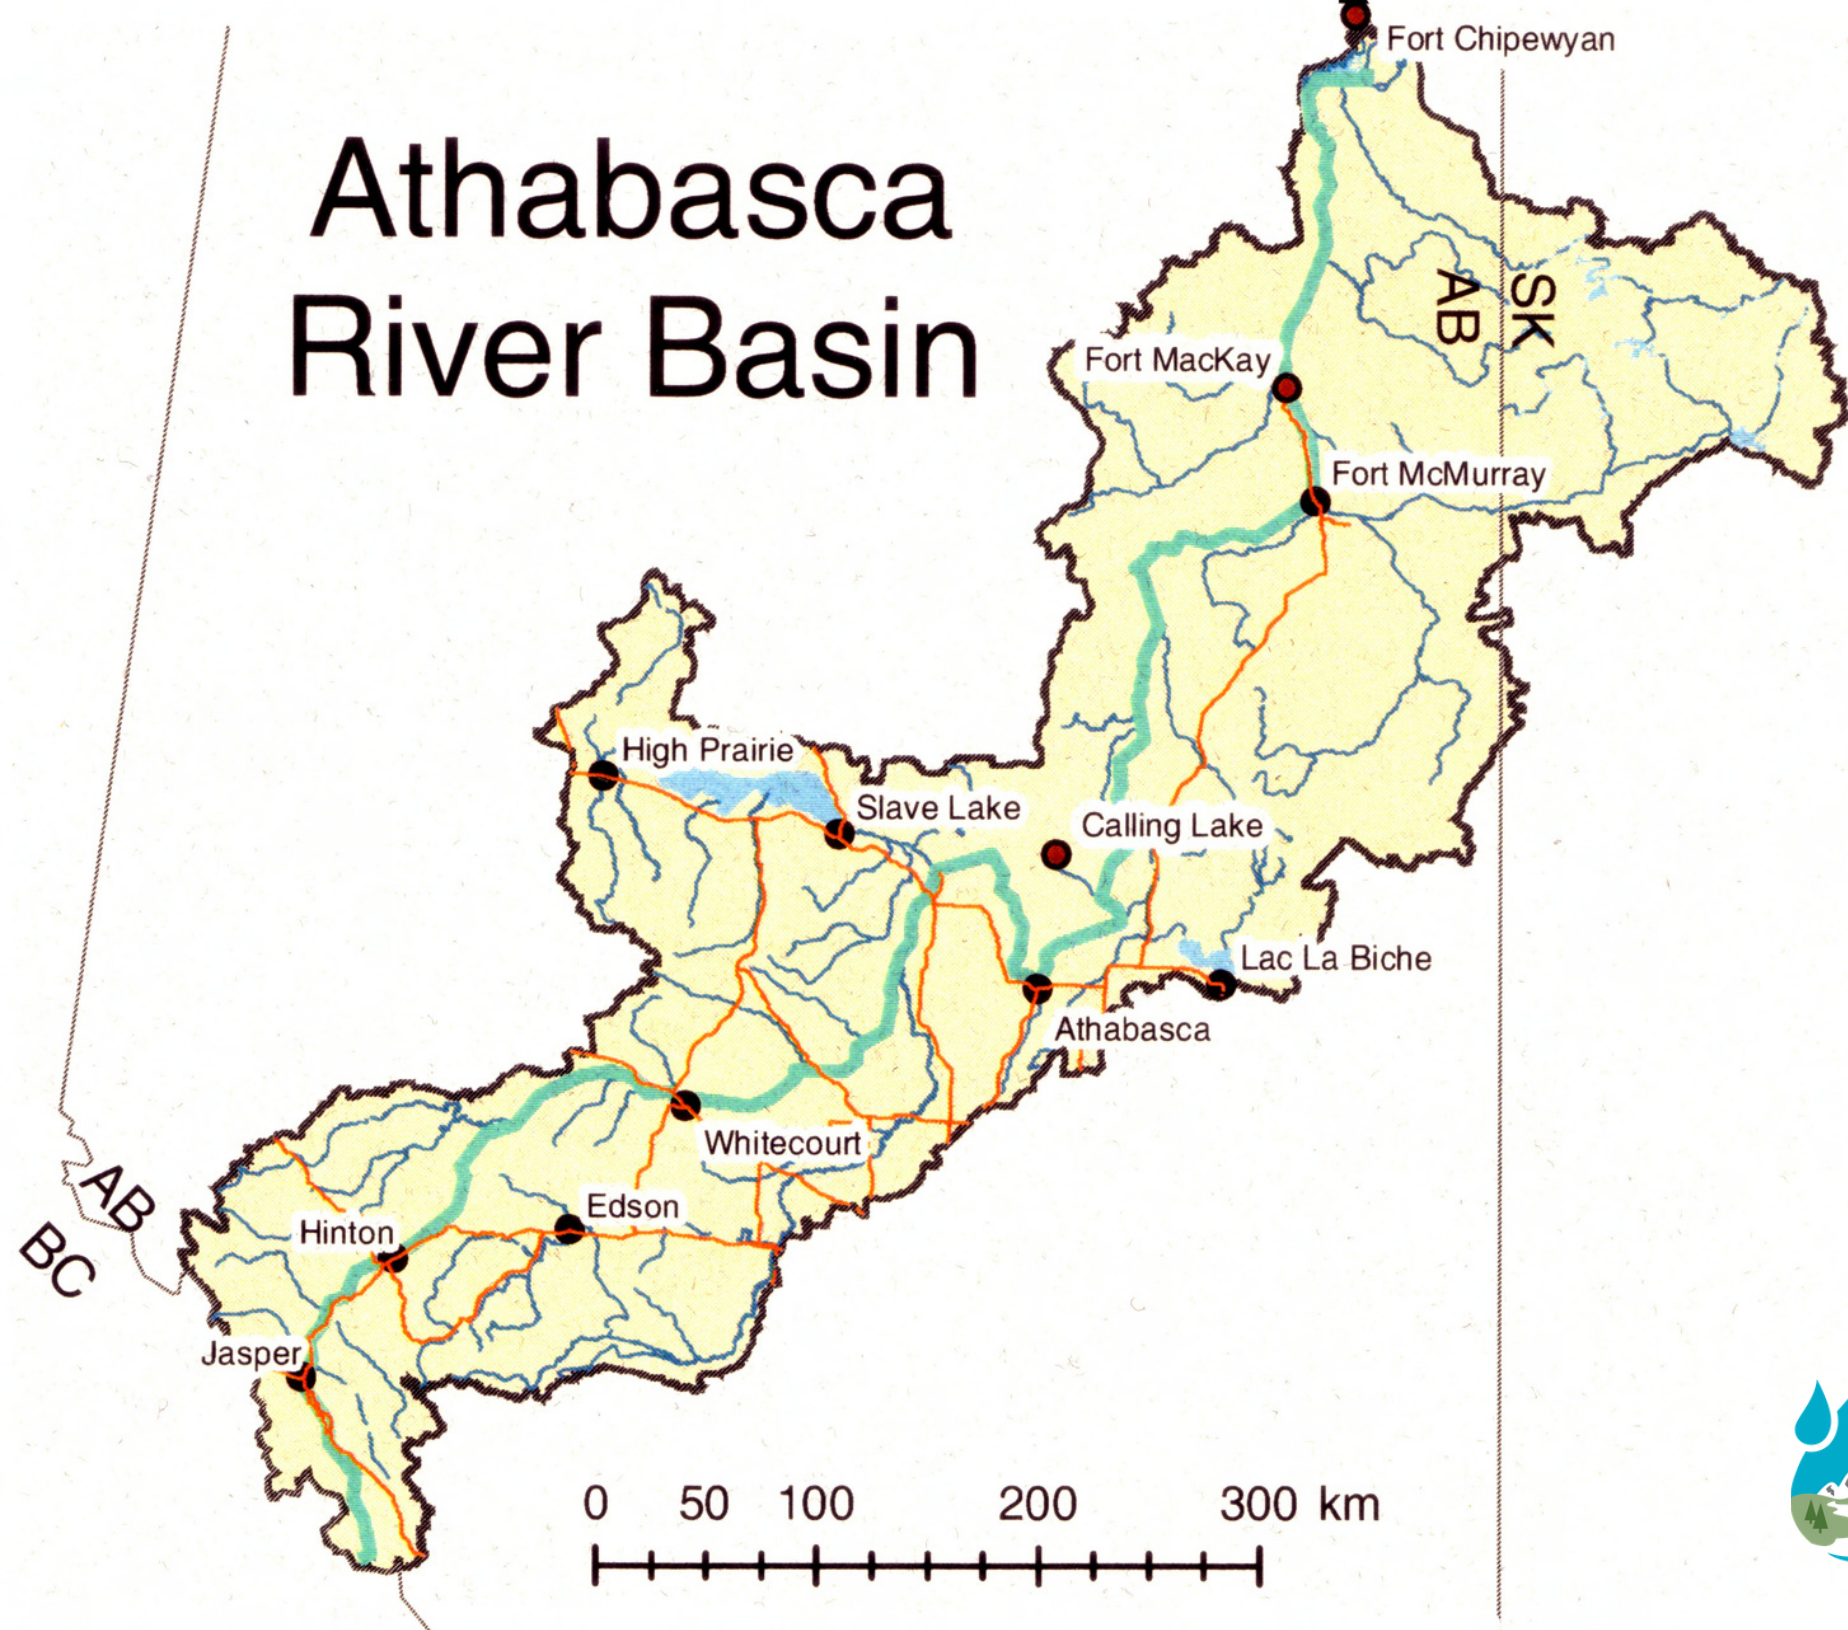

Who We Are

The Athabasca Watershed Council (AWC) is one of 11 provincial Watershed Planning and Advisory Councils (WPAC) representing the major watersheds in Alberta. The AWC is a Canadian charitable organization, with a multi-stakeholder Board of Directors that, through consensus decision making, informs the overall management of the watershed.

The AWC creates “State of the Watershed” reports and is currently finalizing the first draft of our Integrated Watershed Management Plan (IWMP). This IWMP will provide direction to watershed stakeholders and Indigenous partners on best management practices to ensure the following “Water for Life” goals: safe, secure drinking water; healthy aquatic ecosystems; and reliable quality and quantity of water for a sustainable economy.

The Athabasca Watershed

What is a watershed?

A watershed is an area of land that receives water that eventually drains into a body of water, like a lake, river, or ocean. The boundaries of a watershed are determined by the topography of the landscape. Mountains or ridges are the natural dividers of watersheds.

Water is everywhere. It's in lakes, sloughs, and puddles. It's in rivers, creeks, streams, and underground aquifers. It comes from rain, snow, hail, and melting glaciers. All water flows downhill, and if that water eventually ends up in the Athabasca River, then it's in our watershed.

The Athabasca River is 1,231 km long. It flows from the Columbia Icefield in Jasper National Park to Lake Athabasca. The Athabasca River watershed covers about 24% of Alberta (159,000 square km). Our watershed is a diverse landscape. It contains several distinct ecosystems, including the Rocky Mountain, Foothills, Boreal Forest, and Canadian Shield. It is the site of numerous industrial activities, including agriculture, forestry, oil and gas, recreation and more.

The Athabasca Watershed contains all or parts of 13 Municipal Districts, 3 Specialized Municipalities, 10 Towns, 9 Summer Villages, 1 village and 4 Improvement Districts. It spans over Treaty 6, Treaty 8 and Treaty 10 territories and is the home of many Indigenous people.

There are many strains on the watershed, including, but not limited to: surface and groundwater allocations to industry and municipalities, linear disturbances like roads and pipelines, pressures on wet-lands and riparian areas, and the many other human activities that may adversely impact the diverse ecosystems that reside here.

To manage the water that we all depend on, we must effectively manage the land that we share. To do that, we must come together to understand the issues, challenges, opportunities, and blind spots affecting our watershed. The AWC works to bring stakeholders, citizens, and Indigenous peoples together to effectively manage the Athabasca River watershed.

Water for Life Strategy

Alberta's Water for Life Goals:

- Secure safe, secure drinking water
- Maintain healthy aquatic ecosystems
- Create reliable quality water supplies for a sustainable economy

11 Watershed Planning and Advisory Councils (WPACs) undertake four foundational roles in various levels under the Water for Life strategy for their basin:

- Convener and Collaborator
- Monitoring and Reporting
- Policy and Planning
- Education and Literacy

Life depends on water. In Alberta, our quality of life is tied to healthy and sustainable water supplies for the environment, for our communities, and for our economic well-being.

The Water for Life strategy outlines the Government of Alberta's commitments to manage and safeguard Alberta's water resources, now and in the future. The strategy has been the vehicle for managing Alberta's precious water resources since its release in 2003. Because it has been such an effective tool for managing Alberta's water resources, the Government of Alberta renewed the strategy and will implement a renewed action plan. The Water for Life renewal builds upon the good work already undertaken and reaffirms the Government of Alberta's commitment to the Water for Life approach for the wise management of Alberta's water quantity and quality for the benefit of all Albertans. In essence, we are making a good strategy better.

Water for Life goals and key directions will be achieved through the Water for Life action plan, which is designed to ensure achievable and timely outcomes that reflect growing pressures on our province's water supplies. Water is an essential resource that must be protected to ensure future growth and prosperity in Alberta.
